Melologo I

- I.1: In the shadow of my shattered memories, I find myself alone, gripped by grief for a lost love.
- I.2: Like an abandoned queen, among the ruins of my past, I collapse under the weight of a broken promise. My chest resounds with death, howling like the wind through the columns of my dying kingdom.
- I.3 A moan fills the air...
- I.4: In the darkness of this abandonment, a faint light still shines
- I.5: a hope, a last relief.

Melologo II

- II.1: From the height of the throne, I watch the world I knew collapsing, powerless.
- II.2: A longlife companion departs, dragging me down with him in the sea of his deceptive promises.
- II.3: The palace walls enclose regret, whisper melancholy, transforming my anger into a river of...
- II.4: fire!
- II.5: a river of fire ready to engulf anyone who approaches.

Melologo III

- III.1: Sitting among the gardens, my heart is torned by a dear friend leaving.
- III.2: Cheerful memories fade away and he leaves, leaving me alone while I carry the weight of the abyss.
- III.3: A mist envelops the atmosphere, as if destiny itself were whispering its tragedy.
- III.4: Yet, in the depths of sorrow, a sweet melody caresses my soul, a distant echo of a once happy time now amplifies the wound he left. I want to tell him...
- III.5: remember me.
